FOREWORD

This report presents the U.S. geographical distribution of military prime contract awards over $10,000 for fiscal years 1977, 1978, and 1979 by census region and state.

The data are presented in two sections:

1. Section A provides information for all types of procurement: research, development, test, and evaluation (RDT&E) work; other services and construction; and supplies and equipment. Individual tables are provided for each state which break down the awards into 25 major procurement programs.
2. Section B provides information confined to awards for RDT&E work. In this section the RDT&E total for each state is subdivided to show awards to educational institutions, other nonprofit institutions, and business firms.

It is emphasized that prime contract data are not a measure of the total volume of defense work that is performed within a state, because they do not reflect the very substantial amount of subcontract funds that may flow into and out of the state. About half of the prime contract dollars for major hard goods, and unknown proportions of other types of procurement, are subcontracted by the prime contractor.

In general, the state data are based on the location of the plant where the product will be finally processed or assembled. For contracts where companies assign the work to more than one plant, the location is the address of the plant where the greater part of the work is done or where the management responsibility is centered. When this cannot be determined, the contracts are assigned to a "not-distributed-by-state" category and are excluded from this report. The amounts not distributed by state also include all contracts and purchases of $10,000 or less; other contracts which, for security reasons, could not be assigned to a state; and foreign military sales contracts entered into overseas and other contracts for work outside the U.S.

Some special characteristics of the data on prime contract awards by procurement program category should be noted.

The "Electronics" category includes all electronics and communications equipment which is separately procured under prime contract. In the case of missiles and aircraft, electronics work is often an integral part of the assembly prime contract and, therefore, is not separately identified as electronics in the prime contract statistics.

Weapons, whether for use in ships, tanks, or aircraft, are separately procured and separately reported.

Contracts for all other types of equipment and parts and for repair, maintenance, overhaul, modification and other services, which can be identified with one of the specified program categories, are assigned to that category. For example, the installation or check-out of equipment at ballistic missile sites is recorded as missile work in the state where the site is located. (The contract for manufacture of such equipment is reported according to the location of the manufacturer's plant.) Aircraft, missile, or other program contracts, therefore, may be reported in states where there are no weapon assembly plants but where bases, laboratories, or suppliers of instruments, parts, or support equipment may be located.

The dollar volume shown for each category includes RDT&E work associated with it. The scope of RDT&E includes research, exploratory development, advanced development, engineering development, operational systems development, and management and support. The effort performed under each of these activities is described in the Defense Acquisition Regulations 4-101.

Figures in the tables may not add due to rounding.

HIGHLIGHTS

Total military prime contract awards in fiscal year 1979 amounted to $29,348 million, an increase of $4,163 million or 6.4 percent over fiscal year 1978.

Awards over $10,000 for performance within the United States whose distribution by census region and state is shown in this report totaled $56,653 million in fiscal year 1979. As presented in the following tabulation, these awards were $3,060 million or 5.7 percent more than in fiscal year 1978. This amount represented 82 percent of total military prime contract awards and has remained constant for the past three fiscal years. The kinds of the awards not included in this report are described in the Foreword to the report and are distributed as follows:

IV

Military Prime Contract Awards Over $10,000 by Region and State (Table I and Chart 1)

The three regions that received the largest share of the awards in fiscal year 1979 were the Pacific (24.5%), South Atlantic (14.6%), and Middle Atlantic (14.3%). These regions that comprise the eastern part of the United States (see map) received a total of 54.5 percent of the awards as opposed to 45.5 percent for the western regions.

The three regions whose awards in fiscal year 1979 showed the largest increases over fiscal year 1978 were the South Atlantic (up $1,743 million or 27 percent); West North Central (up $529 million or 11 percent); and Mountain (up $181 million or 11 percent). Two regions showed a decrease in awards between FY 1978 and 1979: East South Central (down $740 million or -29 percent) and West South Central (down $950 million or -16 percent). The remaining regions all experienced increases in awards in FY 1979 ranging from 5 percent to 8 percent. Of the states, awards for Montana and Wyoming were almost double, the former recovering from a -86 percent in FY 1978 and the latter continuing its steady increase from FY 1977 (up a total of 167 percent). Virginia, with the third largest increase, recovered from its -16 percent change in the 1977-1978 period. On the other hand, Mississippi who experienced a 185 percent increase in 1977-1978 suffered the greatest loss in 1979. The following indicates those states with the largest percentage change in awards from 1978 to 1979:

STATE	PERCENT CHANGE	DOLLAR CHANGE ($000)

Military Prime Contract Awards Over $10,000 by Major Hard Goods Program by Region (Table II and Chart 2)

Table II and Chart 2 show the U.S. geographical distribution of awards for the seven major military hard goods programs for the fiscal years 1977, 1978, and 1979. The following table indicates that the hard goods programs accounted for over 73 percent of the total awards during these fiscal years. These awards showed a 5 percent increase between 1978 and 1979 as compared to 6 percent for all programs. The percentage distribution among the total awards and among the hard goods programs remained fairly constant during the three-year period.

part - on weapons programs for fiscal year 1979 in each of the seven major regions and their share of awards in these programs in 1978, indicating some movement in the distribution of awards between the two years.

The Pacific Region was again the overall leader for the second consecutive year placing in the top three for six of the seven programs. The Middle Atlantic and East South Central regions experienced a decline in the rankings between 1978 and 1979.

In general, the change in the distribution of regions within the seven hard goods programs was not as dramatic as in 1978. Two programs, ammunition and electronics and communications equipment, maintained their 1978 distribution. The regions comprising the aircraft and weapons programs remained unchanged except for shifts in ranking. New England replaced the West South Central as the leader in aircraft, while the Pacific Region took over as leader in the weapons program, moving the Middle Atlantic into second place. The South Atlantic Region showed the greatest gain by replacing the Middle Atlantic and East South Central in missiles and space systems and ships, respectively, while the West North Central replaced the Middle Atlantic in the tanks-automotive category.

Table IIIA

This table shows for fiscal year 1979 the five leading states in each of the 25 major procurement programs. While California was first in ten of the programs, there was a broad representation of states in the five leading rankings. A total of 33 states appear in the table, the same as in 1978; 13 states ranked first in one or more of the programs, 13 ranked second, 18 ranked third, 18 ranked fourth, and 18 ranked fifth.

Research, Development, Test, and Evaluation Work by Region and State (Tables IVA, IVB, and IVC)

These tables show for fiscal years 1977, 1978, and 1979, respectively, the U.S. geographical distribution of prime contract awards over $10,000 for RDT&E work. As may be noted from the following tabulation, these awards totaled $8,454 million in fiscal year 1979, a decrease of $114 million or -1.3 percent from fiscal year 1977. The ratio of RDT&E to total awards was 15 percent in 1979, as compared to 17 percent in 1978, and 17 percent in 1977.

As shown below, the percentage distribution of the RDT&E awards among the three types of contractors changed slightly in FY 1979 with educational and other nonprofit, each gaining one percentage point over FY 1978.

The following table presents the dollar and percentage distributions of total and RDT&E awards, and the percentage of RDT&E awards to total awards for fiscal year 1979. The distribution of RDT&E awards remained fairly constant except for the South Atlantic region which had an increase of 1.4 percentage points and the East North Central region, which showed a decrease of 4.0 percentage points. However, the relationship of RDT&E awards to total awards showed a pronounced decrease with eight of the nine regions showing a loss led by the East North Central with a drop of 8.1 percentage points. The only region showing a gain was the East South Central with an increase of 5.1 percentage points, almost recovering from its 8.2 point loss in FY 1978.

Pacific	13,883	24.5	3,236	38.3	23.3

Six of the nine regions received more RDT&E awards in fiscal year 1979 than in fiscal year 1978. The three regions that had the largest increases were the East South Central ($56 million or 41 percent), West North Central ($91 million or 11 percent), and South Atlantic ($105 million or 10 percent).

The five states that received the largest share of the RDT&E awards in fiscal year 1979 were California (31%), Massachusetts (11%), Missouri (8%), Washington (7%), and New York (5%). With respect to the three types of contracts, Maryland ranked first in awards to educational institutions (31%), and California ranked first both in awards to other nonprofit institutions (32%), and to business firms (32%).
